More Snow Is Predicted Over Nebraska; Lincoln Precipitation Totals .44 Of Inch

More snow to add to the Friday falls that measured up to 7 inches at Grand Island and 6 inches at Holdrege and Norfolk has been predicted by the weatherman for Saturday and Sunday.

However, according to the forecast the snow will be only occasional and will center in the extreme east and the Panhandle Saturday, in the west Saturday night and in the east Sunday.

Lincoln's precipitation from a mixture of snow and freezing rain, with some sleet thrown in, by early Saturday had measured .44 of an inch, with an estimated one inch of snow on the ground.

But barring high winds which fortunately did not accompany this second storm of the season, the state is expected to realize a minimum of headaches.

Friday night almost 20 hours after the first sleet and snow began to fall in Nebraska, all roads were open, and rail transportation was on schedule and communications were undisturbed.

The Weather Bureau predicted that the outlook for a white Christmas is very good indeed with below-normal temperatures expected until next Wednesday and more snow due possibly on Monday and Tuesday.

The storm struck its heaviest blow at highway travel in Nebraska. Sleet and near-freezing rain over the southern and eastern portions glazed highways and made all travel over them extremely hazardous. Where sleet didn't fall, south and west of Hastings and Grand Island the snow had become packed on highways by Friday night and made driving increasingly risky.

The state highway department said snow fall tapered off from the 7-inch high at Grand Island to about two inches at McCook and slightly over an inch at Lincoln and Omaha. Early morning sleet turned to light snow in Nebraska and then stopped snowing. Periodic snowfall continued lightly in the south and central sections. Humboldt reported light fog in the afternoon.

According to the Weather Bureau the storm centered over Oklahoma and Arkansas and swept warm moist air from the Gulf of Mexico over the wedge of cold air now covering the northern states, causing widespread cloudiness, fog and precipitation.

The Weather Bureau predicted that temperatures Saturday would range slightly below freezing after Friday night lows of 15 and 20 degrees.

The Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph Co. said Friday night that none of its long-distance circuits had been broken by the storm. A spokesman said, however, "We are keeping our fingers crossed. If a wind comes up some of the wires, with as much as a half inch of ice on them, will break."

United Airlines reported that all flights between Denver and Chicago had been cancelled because of the cloudy and icing conditions.

Following is a snowfall report compiled by the Star Friday:

Douglas Horse Pleads Guilty In Assault Case

KIMBALL, Neb. (AP)—Douglas Horse, 25, of Kimball pleaded guilty Friday to a charge of assault with intent to commit great bodily harm filed in connection with an attack on two Kimball women last month.

A charge of aiding and abetting kidnapping and attempted murder were dismissed at the request of Kimball County Attorney Jack Myer, District Judge John Kuns, before whom he was arraigned continued the case indefinitely.

Myer said this had the effect of putting Horse on probation. He was paroled to Sheridan County Sheriff Wendall Hills of Rushville, Neb.

Thomas Blackfeet, 20, of Porcupine, S. D., whom Horse was accused of aiding, has been sentenced to prison terms totaling 17 years on two charges of assault and a charge of grand larceny. A charge of kidnapping against him was dropped.

Trend Indicates Buying Record For Lincoln Christmas Season

If the present trend continues, Lincolinites will set a new buying record this Christmas to erase last year's holiday mark.

General merchandise and specialty stores all report sales up this year over last Christmas. One increase was quoted at 20 per cent over last year.

In general, credit sales are showing more of an increase than the cash purchases. Also, the average cost of items bought was reported higher this year than last.

No Mad Rush

One store manager, while anticipating record sales, added that there "is no mad rush. You see a lot of people on the streets, but that doesn't mean they are spending money."

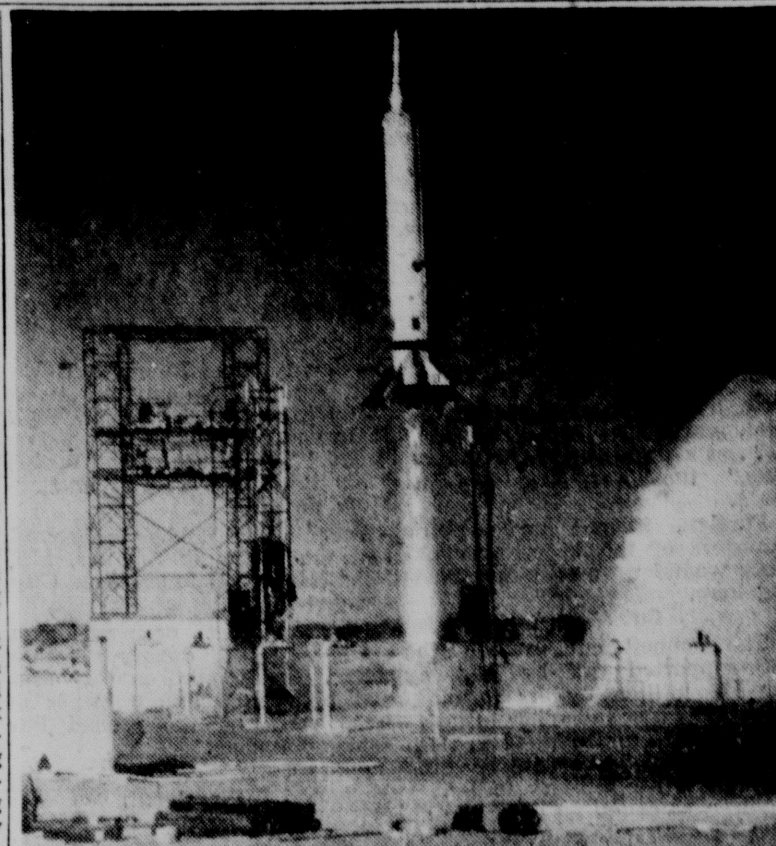

Two stores, however, had a reason for the increases that changed the picture slightly. They pointed out that Thanksgiving last year was a week earlier than this year, making the Christmas buying this year concentrated into a shorter period.

Thus, they reasoned, the increase in sales might not be as big as it appears to be at this time.

Looking at last year and barring bad weather, the merchants expect the buying to continue

Sen. Taft Assured Senate Leadership

Two Rivals For GOP Post Of Power Step Aside, Clear Way For Ohioan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Robert Taft of Ohio virtually clinched the post of Republican floor leader in the new Senate Friday, as possible rivals stepped aside.

Thus a post of tremendous power in Congress will go to a man who fought President-elect Eisenhower bitterly for the Republican Presidential nomination.

The success of the Eisenhower legislative program could depend in no small measure on how well the two men can co-operate.

High-ranking GOP Sen. Hugh Butler of Nebraska commented: "This is very pleasing to me. It means we're going to have 100 per cent peace and harmony in the Republican party."

The Senate majority floor leader traditionally takes part in White House councils and leads the fight in the Senate for the administration proposals.

No Objection Raised

Taft has expressed confidence he can work in co-operation with the Eisenhower administration, despite past differences.

And Eisenhower lieutenants had passed the word they had no objection to him as a majority leader.

Doubt as to who would capture the prize faded away Friday with an announcement by Taft that (1) he was a candidate for the job and (2) that he had assurances from Sen. Stenholm (R-Neb.) and William Knowland (R-Calif.) that they were not seeking it.

This left Taft with no known rivals for the post, and Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) promptly said it looked as though Taft would be chosen unanimously by Republican senators before the new Congress meets Jan. 3.

At his home in Oakland, Calif., Knowland said that "in the interests of having a united Republican party, I am not going to be a candidate for floor leader."

Different Position

Taft previously had confined himself to saying only that he was "available" for floor leadership.

His decision to announce as a candidate, he said, was made only after receiving assurances that Bridges and Knowland were not in the race.

Another factor that undoubtedly figured in the picture was a remark earlier in the week by Sen. Frank Carlson (R-Kan.).

After a talk with Eisenhower in New York, Carlson told reporters that if Taft wanted the post, he presumed that he would get it and that he would be for him.

The Ohio senator will step out of the post of Senate GOP policy chairman when he takes over the floor leadership now held by Bridges. Knowland's withdrawal increased his chances of winning the policy chairmanship. Bridges will become Senate president pro tempore and appropriations chairman.

United Airlines officials look for increased trade but expect to be able to handle the Lincoln load on the regularly scheduled flights. Flights will have to be added at Omaha, said United, to take care of both the Lincoln and Omaha load.

Drastic 1953 Decline Blamed On Drought At Planting Time

State Harvest Cut Over 44 Million Bushels; National Forecast For 11 Bushels Per Acre

From Press Dispatches

A 1953 Nebraska winter wheat crop of 53,088,000 bushels, compared with the record 1952 crop of 97,695,000, has been forecast by the Department of Agriculture.

The forecast, first for the crop which will be harvested next spring, reflected the effect of the prolonged fall drought in Nebraska's major wheat growing areas.

On the national level the Agriculture Department predicted a 1953 wheat crop 40 per cent smaller than this year's near-record yield, and estimated the harvest will be only 611,141,000 bushels.

Drastic Decline

The reporting board blamed the drastic decline on unfavorable planting conditions due to the drought.

(A. E. Anderson, state-federal agricultural statistician in Lincoln, commenting on the state predictions, said the extremely dry condition of seeded wheatfields in south and central sections of Nebraska was a major factor in pulling the crop estimate down.

(However, he added, the wheat in the Panhandle and in some southwest sections is "promising." In the southeast the wheat is better than in south-central sections, but even there non-summer fallowed wheat is "not too good."

The Friday estimate of the state crop was based on an acreage of 4,424,000, slightly more than the 4,342,000 acres from which last summer's record production was harvested.

The average crop for the 10 years from 1941 through 1950 was 69,013,000 bushels.

97 Pct. of '52

Though the acreage planted is slightly higher than that harvested this year, the department said it is only 97 per cent of the 1952 crop seeding.

The Department of Agriculture forecasts are based on Dec. 1 conditions.

The western wheat growing areas shared heavy snows of the Nov. 25-26 blizzard and on Dec. 12 and 13, Scottsbluff had .10 of an inch of precipitation and Sidney .14. Imperial had .05 of an inch Thursday.

11 Bushels Per Acre

As compared with 19 bushels per acre in 1952, the board predicted that next year's national yield will be only 11 bushels.

Farmers, who plant wheat in the fall for harvest the following year, sowed 55,631,000 acres to the grain—virtually the same as a year ago.

Scope of the reduced harvest forecast can be determined by the fact that the winter wheat yield over the past decade has usually approached or exceeded the billion bushel mark.

Normally, winter wheat makes up about three-fourths of the total U. S. crop with spring-planted grain accounting for the remainder.

Big Kansas Crop

The biggest drop is expected in Kansas—the greatest of all wheat states. Kansas farmers are still reported to be suffering from a lack of moisture.

Crop reporters estimated next year's yield in the state at 11.4, 520,000 bushels compared with this year's output of 307,629,000.

Yields forecast for other major winter wheat states such as Oklahoma, Colorado, Washington, Oregon, and Ohio are all considerably below 1952 production.

The government had asked farmers to plant only about 50 million acres to the grain this fall.

Forecasters admitted this year's prospects for winter wheat are more uncertain than usual. Final production in past years has varied from the original estimate anywhere from six million to 253 million bushels.

Robins, Between '30 And 300' Of Them, Settle In County Courthouse Trees

Lancaster County Courthouse employees were sure that they were seeing robins Friday afternoon—but no one was quite so sure as to how many of the "feathered friends" they were seeing.

George Meyer, Adult Probation Officer, counted 60. Lloyd Perry, Deputy County Court Clerk, and Mrs. Virginia Loomis, County Court secretary, were positive they saw "at least 30 robins." The estimate grew as Kenneth Ferguson, clerk in the Register of Deeds office, reported seeing 200 to 300 robins. Mrs. Katherine Kuhner, operator of the Courthouse coffee counter, made a first hand survey. She went outdoors to check the situation and reported "50 to 100" birds.

One young lady summed it up, after looking out a window, by reporting, "There are jillions of robins outside!"

The robins—take your own choice as to the number—were settled in trees in the parking lot at the west side of the building.

Second Man May Offer Clue To Brink's Holdup

BOSTON. (AP)—A second man has been tabbed as a participant in the huge $1,219,000 Brink's holdup and is reportedly in the custody of the FBI, it was reported Friday.

U. S. Atty. George F. Garrity had no comment.

These latest reports were that affidavits named a second man as having been one of the hooded gunmen who tied up five employees in the armored car firm's vaults on Jan. 17, 1950, and made off with the largest cash haul in America.

Identify Secret

The man, unidentified, was described as 37 and the possessor of a bad police record.

He was said to be in the hands of the Federal Bureau of Investigation but not necessarily in a penal institution.

The inference was drawn that this man might "talk."

This information, learned by Federal Building reporters, was said to be based on FBI affidavits purportedly said the man at one time had in his possession approximately $60,000 of Brink's money.

Since sworn affidavits became available Thursday night naming Joseph "Specs" O'Keefe, 44, of Boston, as a participant in the robbery, all papers having any connection with the robbery have

Arizona Desert Helps Posse Find Deserters

SAFFORD, Ariz. (AP)—A trail of gunfire, blazed by two Negro army men, ended in the rocky desert country 35 miles southeast of here.

The pair surrendered without a fight to a sheriff's posse from Cochise and Graham Counties. They were sought for armed robbery and shooting an Arizona highway patrolman.

They identified themselves as Clifford Davis, 22, Indianapolis, and George Sullivan, 22, Cincinnati, and said they were AWOL from Rapid City Air Force Base at Weaver, S.D.

Graham County Sheriff H. Skeet Bowman said they admitted robbing a Phoenix liquor store early Monday.

Bowman said they gave up when his posse advanced because they were too weak to run. The pair had eluded a concentrated manhunt by more than 100 law officers since their wild, 220-mile flight from Phoenix.

"We didn't have anything to eat," Davies told Bowman. "We couldn't get out of the desert."

—Perjury Case—
Lattimore's
Court Plea:
'Not Guilty'
Opening Of Trial
Expected In March

WASHINGTON (AP)—Owen Lattimore was arranged on a seven-count perjury charge Friday and almost shouted: "Not guilty."

The Far Eastern specialist, accused by a congressional committee of being a champion of Communist causes, was released under a $2,000 bond by U. S. District Judge James R. Kirkland.

"You may go anywhere in the world, but be back on the date of the trial," Judge Kirkland told him. The court said the trial probable would begin in March.

Lattimore is charged with testifying falsely in seven instances when he appeared before the Senate's Internal Security Subcommittee last winter. Congress has been investigating Lattimore's activities off and on for the last three years.

In an indictment returned last Tuesday he was accused, among other things, of swearing falsely that he had never been "a sympathizer and promoter of communism and Communist interests."

Lattimore spoke only the two words "not guilty" before the bench.

He left the rest of the talking to his attorney, Thurman Arnold, a former assistant attorney general and former judge of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Lattimore is director of a school of international relations at Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore. During his career he served as consultant to the State Department on Far Eastern affairs and as adviser to Chiang Kai-shek, generalissimo of the Nationalist Chinese forces.

Withdrawal Of Colorado From Agencies Talked

DENVER (AP)—Colorado withdrawal from active participation in two interstate water agencies was discussed Friday by the State Water Conservation Board, but no final decision was reached.

The two agencies are the Missouri Basin States Committee and its allied Missouri Basin Interagency Committee and the Arkansas-Red-White Interagency Committee.

The consensus appeared to be that Colorado's interests in the two areas was insufficient to warrant participation but that perhaps the state should keep observers in each group.

Western Fringe
Colorado is on the western fringe of the Missouri Basin because the North and South Platte Rivers, which rise in the state, flow into the Missouri. The Arkansas river also rises in the state.

The state has interstate or Supreme Court decrees covering all the streams.

The Missouri Basin agencies also include Wyoming, Montana, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota and Missouri.

The Arkansas-Red-White agency also includes Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Louisiana and Arkansas.

Objections
Missing At Basin Meet

3,236 Sign Petition
Approving Program

GORDON, Neb. (AP)—There wasn't a single objection raised to the proposed Niobrara Basin Development plan when it was presented to landowners in the Gordon area in the last of four regional meetings.

Although the points which drew vigorous objection from Cherry County ranchers in the meeting at Valentine were brought up again and discussed by various persons, no objections were registered.

Dan Jones Jr., Nebraska irrigation chief, said following the Gordon meeting 3,236 persons had signed a resolution approving the plan. There were 52 persons at the last meeting including three of the 14 landowners on Lavaca Flats, an area on the north bank of the Niobrara northeast of Gordon which has 3,150 acres of irrigable land and which is slated for one of the two initial projects in the plan.

Cole Favors Plan
State Sen. D. J. Cole of Merriam also came to speak in favor of the project, pointing out that although the proposed Boiling Springs unit south of Eli would inundate ranch land owned by his son-in-law and daughter, he felt the overall benefits of the plan were sufficient to justify it.

Carl Horn of Hay Springs, who is called the "daddy" of the Mirage Flats project, an irrigation project in the Hay Springs area also spoke alone with several others in the project, all of them highly favorable to the basin plan. Mirage Flats is scheduled for an extension under the program.

Clyde Burdick, area reclamation bureau engineer from Ainsworth, presented the plan at the Gordon meeting.

The low attendance was blamed on bad weather.

—Europe's Defense—
NATO Step
Hit Sharply
By Ridgway

Considers Decisions
Unimaginative Ones

PARIS (AP)—The North Atlantic ministers' decision to slow the Western European defense buildup has drawn fire Friday from Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, whose advice they ignored.

Obviously irked, the supreme Allied commander declared "there can be no excuse for any slackening of effort in the rapid building of NATO defenses" in the face of a continuing threat of war.

Ridgway deplored economy moves of the North Atlantic Council in a talk before 53 Army, Navy and Air Force officers making up the second graduating class of the NATO Defense College, which trains men for work in its headquarters and its sub-commands.

"We do not know how long we shall be the Kremlin's target, marked for attack by war, ... at a time of its own choosing," the American general said.

Foreign, finance and defense ministers of the 14 member nations wound up a four-day meeting here.

Cut of 50%
The council cut in half the U.S.-supported call by Ridgway for 428 million dollars to build more air bases and other installations in 1953 and decided to flesh out instead of otherwise boosting the size of his military forces.

This was called an emphasis on "quality rather than quantity," as British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden remarked in London in commenting on Ridgway's speech. Eden said the Allies—their economies already strained by defense efforts—did the right thing. He said the emphasis applied particularly to training and weapons.

Backlog Remains
The chairman of NATO's Building Committee, Danish Finance Minister Thorvald Kristensen, said one reason for the cut was the fact a backlog of almost 800 million dollars previously authorized for air fields, naval works and other defense installations remains to be spent.

Ridgway waited less than 24 hours after the ministers wound up their meeting to deplore its outcome. He said the decisions showed "unimaginative thought."

Ridgway made clear that he would continue to press what he termed his "honest, objective military views upon the political authorities," and then explained: "My responsibility for the military defense of the NATO nations in Europe is not qualified. I am not told to defend just parts of them and their peoples. Nor am I told that my responsibility is to become effective at some future date. I have it in full today."

Remains Unconscious
Ridgway has not regained consciousness and is receiving periodic blood transfusions. Rodney was described as "doing better than his brother" but still in critical condition.

However, Rodney, who regained consciousness Thursday, was able to drink more water and milk from a bottle Friday. He started taking nourishment by bottle soon after regaining consciousness.

Doctors say both twins, if they survive will remain on the critical list for another four to six days, at least, despite any day-by-day change.

Tired and showing strain from the exhausting vigil, the twins' mother, Mrs. Marjorie Brodie, 30, of Moline, Ill., said: "I think it's a miracle that they've gone this far."

Her husband, Royt, 35, a farmer, told newsmen: "If you believe in the Good Lord, you have nothing to be afraid of."

Surgeons disclosed Friday that they ran into their first major complication with Roger when he stopped breathing the moment he was separated from his brother.

They immediately applied artificial respiration, pumped blood into his veins and squeezed his chest rhythmically to stimulate the tempo of his heart beat. He was breathing again within two minutes.

Incision In Windpipe
Roger also ran into breathing difficulties from a swollen throat Thursday morning, and an incision had to be made in his windpipe to restore respiration.

The portions of the twins' brains that were exposed when the boys were severed have been covered with a plastic substance called polyethylene.

Over this plastic coating is a layer of aluminum foil. And that is covered by a turban-like wrapping of white gauze bandages. Teams of two nurses and one pediatrician, working in shifts, attend the boys around the clock.

Three Injured
In School Bus,
Train Accident

REPUBLICAN CITY, Neb. (AP)—Three children were injured Friday when a Chicago, Burlington and Quincy passenger train struck a school bus at a grade crossing 2 1/2 miles west of here.

County Attorney D. A. Russell identified the injured children as Janet Booher, 17; Everett Hunter, 6, and his brother, Stanley Hunter, 8, all of Republican City. The Hunter children were taken to an Alma hospital where their condition was described as "good." The extent of the Booher girls' injuries were not immediately determined.

Russell said Bobby Booher, 16, and the driver of the bus, Mrs. Max Barber of Republican City, escaped injury.

The accident occurred at a grade crossing during a snow storm. The Republican City area had between 5 and 6 inches of fresh snow on the ground late Friday forenoon.

Sheriff Ted Baker of Alma investigated the accident.

One Of Those Named

NEW YORK (INS)—General Dwight Eisenhower chose two business men to be his Army and Air Force secretaries and a Texas Democrat as secretary of the Navy.

Named by the president-elect to serve as civilian chiefs of the armed forces were Robert Ten Broeck Stevens, secretary of the Army; Harold E. Talbot, secretary of the Air Force; and Robert Bernard Anderson, secretary of the Navy.

Eisenhower selected a third business man, Roger M. Keyes, to be deputy secretary of defense. That is the No. 2 Defense Department job. The appointments, announced after a series of conferences between Ike and Defense Secretary-designate Charles E. Wilson are subject to Senate confirmation.

Anderson, who identified himself as a "Democrat for Eisenhower," is an attorney and deputy chairman of the board of directors of the Dallas Federal Reserve Bank. The 42-year-old Texan is a former member of the Texas Legislature and an assistant attorney general and tax commissioner of the Lone Star State. Stevens, now Army head, is a veteran of both world wars.

Truman Sure History To Justify Course

China Loss One Error, He Admits

From Press Dispatches
WASHINGTON — President Truman, while saying Communist conquest of China represented a "failure" of U. S. foreign policy, has defended the overall record of his administration in international affairs.

As he has on past occasions, Truman in an address to the National War College showed himself keenly conscious about the role he will be allotted in history. Reviewing the foreign policies he has pursued during his seven-year regime in the White House, the President said future historians may recognize "some mistakes," but he declared:

"On balance, I believe they will say that never in history did a great nation respond so effectively and promptly to new and unaccustomed problems as did this nation in the past seven years."

The chief executive said the foreign policy for which he has been responsible built the foundations for "a structure of peace" and "met its greatest test when the Communists attacked the Republic of Korea."

Mr. Truman declared: "If we are able to preserve unity and confidence among free nations, we need not be panicky about the state of the world. We are not on the losing side. The World is not about to collapse around us."

President Truman also accused Soviet Russia of using the United States as a target for "the most shameless, cynical and terrible campaign of vilification ever conducted against an entire people anywhere."

Speaking on China, Mr. Truman said: "With all our material help, and it was very large, the government of China was not able to save itself."

He declared the administration does not "underestimate" the effects of the Chinese Communist victory, which he called "a tragic loss to the cause of peace and progress in Asia and elsewhere." But, he said, "we hope it will not be an irrevocable loss."

Mr. Truman called for firm cooperation with the incoming Republican administration in its quest for peace. He added: "Let us tell them frankly when we think they are wrong, but let us support them wholeheartedly when they are right."

Writings Of Cicero, Virgil, Seneca Translated Monthly By Lincoln Group

One of the few places today where the language of ancient Rome comes to verbal life—outside of classrooms—is in Lincoln where a small group meets once each month to translate the Latin writings.

Here the Lincolnites, and occasionally one Omaha teacher, meet informally to translate Cicero, Virgil, Seneca, Horace—or whatever they happen to prefer at the time. The group ranges in number from eight to twelve persons.

The gatherings were started about nine years ago when the Rev. and Mrs. William Paul Barnard arrived in Lincoln. They talked to several classes of students at the University of Nebraska and eventually decided to form such a group. Through the years there have been various University faculty members, Lincoln Public School teachers, ministers, housewives and an occasional graduate student attending the meetings.

Discussions Held
The group selects a text, a passage is assigned each member and then translated and discussed for about an hour and a half at the meeting. Current translations include some "Georgics" of Virgil and Einhard's "Life of Charlemagne." Various writings of Medieval Latin—the 6th to 16th century—have been translated, but the group selects writings at random, says Dr. Clarence G. Lowe, chairman of the University Department of Classics and one of the members.

Membership is not restricted, he added, and anyone who has taken Latin is welcome to meetings. The next, in January, will be at the home of Dr. Charles Colman, associate professor of romance languages at the University.

Dr. Lowe pointed out that the meetings help keep up a public interest in the subject, and are of special value to persons who studied Latin years ago. He recalled a similar group which met to translate Greek when he was a graduate student at the University of Illinois. And Mrs. Barnard, who once taught Latin in college, said a similar group exists in Boston.

From Far And Near

This is the season of the year when old friends come alive (actually they are very much alive) through the medium of greeting cards.

That is one of the very pleasant customs inspired by Christmas. The ingenuity and originality of some of the cards do full credit to the individual. Frankly, we like Christmas. We like the spiritual reflections which it inspires, we like the folkiness of its traditions, and best of all, we like the fact that more than any other season of the year, it brings to the front the family fire-side and strengthens the family ties.

It has been so many years ago—more years than we can remember—when the necessity that the show must go on means that a part of the day finds some of us engaged with the newspaper. In light-hearted spirit, that can be explained by the fact that it affords us an opportunity for a few hours release from the uninterrupted visiting that is a part of Christmas. But in the wake of the news, particularly in these recent years the pressure of events has made it imperative to keep abreast of developments. It is almost equivalent to saying that Christmas would not be Christmas without a newspaper.

Many are the inquiries that come to a newspaper office, but a letter which arrived last week presented a new one. It was from a mother whose sturdy son had married and it appeared that the parents of the young man were forgotten in the Christmas planning since custom seemed to have decreed that each Christmas day be spent with the parents of the wife. Frankly, we hadn't thought of it. The more we thought, the more it appeared to us that here was a problem calling for the wisdom of Solomon and the best solution probably wasn't the solution at all. But it had not occurred to the editor that in this simple matter, a day of joy, happiness and nearness could be bleak for some. Of course it is bleak for those away from home. The fighting men in Korea, for example, will have little to cheer this Christmas day of 1952. About the loneliest spot to be in on a Christmas day on native soil is hundreds of miles away from home in one of those huge, sprawling cities where millions work and play and know but very few.

But we like Christmas. We like its atmosphere. There is a lot of fun in decorating the tree. There is life and good will in all the preparations, and it has always seemed to us that human nature is at its best in the holiday season.

It would be difficult to reconcile this observation with the report of a sub-committee of the Public Works Committee of the House earlier in the week. That report dealt with a long-standing fust between various agencies engaged in the important task of developing flood control programs. The sub-committee reported that various branches, each with a finger in the work, were unable to co-ordinate efforts and recommended that the entire job be turned over to the Corps of Army Engineers. The assumption was, with the report appearing just in advance of a new Congress, that the echoes it arouses will become an important issue in that new Congress. It is a matter of real interest to the people of the Missouri Basin because in no other region of the United States has the lack of co-ordination in flood planning been more apparent.

Two old comrades-in-arms got together in New York City. It was the first time they have had the chance to talk in six years. In taking farewell of a conference with Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Ike expressed the hope that circumstances would bring them together more frequently than in the last six years. They were talking about a peace in Korea and apparently the conference proceeded to the complete satisfaction of both. What was said and by whom, naturally remains a secret with the assumption that any effect upon national policy will put in an appearance shortly after the start of the new year. It cannot come too soon.

Out in the tall-grass country, talk centered itself around plans for development of the Niobrara Basin. It is really an ambitious undertaking. The overall program contemplates 14 different projects, featuring irrigation and power at an estimated cost of over 214 million dollars. That includes not only the Niobrara but all of its tributaries, and if ultimately planning moves to a construction stage, additional acres would be added to Nebraska's irrigated empire. Not all was harmony, however, as some talk was heard based principally on the fact that part of the plan might involve diversion from one watershed to another. Specifically, the opposition claimed that the program called for taking water from the Snake to the Niobrara.

A general in the field, Gen. James A. Van Fleet, reputedly was tugging at the bit. There were reports in Tokyo that Van Fleet, if he encountered opposition to a push to break the Korean deadlock, will retire from active service. Van Fleet is a competent soldier, although his reputed insistence upon an offensive reverses the usual procedure unless the joint chiefs of staff reverse themselves.

Second Largest Corn Crop

We are told by the experts that the average yield of 37 bushels of corn to the acre in Nebraska in 1952 is the second largest crop on record on the basis of the average yield. In terms of the total harvest, the 1952 crop was sixth largest on record.

There is a world of difference between this crop of 1952 and the record of 1896. Corn does not go begging today. There is a place for every bushel, and at a reasonably satisfactory price. Long forgotten now but actually in many Nebraska communities in 1896, corn was used as confetti at fall festivals, thrown around freely, and in several southern Nebraska towns wagon-loads of shelled corn were swept from the streets to be hauled away with no more thought than is given refuse and debris taken from the streets at this time.

Then, in a very substantial sense, we were a one-crop state in which corn was king. It is still king in Nebraska but in this crop season of 1952, it has been the happy experience of the people of Nebraska not only to harvest the second largest corn crop in history but to produce the largest wheat crop harvested from Nebraska fields.

It would be difficult to find fault with what Old Mother Nature handed us in this year now drawing to a close.

When A King Chose

The tense and dramatic days of 1936 when a king probed for a decision between a throne and a woman came alive again this week with the publication of a biography of the late Stanley Baldwin.

It was Baldwin who has been cast as the villain of the episode which saw the people of an empire—and of the people of the world—stirred with emotion, either one of sympathy or one of intense dissatisfaction. As prime minister at the time, Baldwin was the man who seemed to be urging King Edward VIII either to renounce the crown or renounce the woman he loved, standing solidly against the possibility of the distressed king having both. The biography bears out, in large measure, that interpretation of one of the most stirring events of this century.

Baldwin is pictured in the new book as persuading the monarch not to make a fighting speech in an effort to win his fight. Instead, the prime minister quietly urged Edward to give up the throne and explain to his subjects that he had made the choice freely, encouraging the people of the empire to stand undivided behind his successor, his brother George.

"Go with dignity," Baldwin is quoted as saying to Edward at the moment of supreme decision. The king, despairing of any other solution, took the advice.

It would be interesting to speculate what might have happened if Edward had been fortunate enough to have a more sympathetic prime minister to deal with. But of such stuff is the story of history made.

A Lady Takes A Gun

The spirit of pioneer America flamed anew in Winter Park, Florida, this week. One Mrs. E. J. Humpfer wasn't going to let the city get away with anything and she went for her shotgun to back up her point.

What aroused the ire of Mrs. Humpfer was a sewer. The sewer was being built near her home, and that meant some sewer pipe had to pass under her lawn. Mrs. Humpfer didn't like the idea. She especially didn't like the way the workers piled dirt on her lawn and showed a singular disrespect for her shrubbery as they went about their work. Mrs. Humpfer has a $31,000 home, a shotgun and a hot temper.

The city, after taking a quick look at her shotgun, which appeared to possess as much authority as any shotgun, reconsidered its plans and told its workers to bypass Mrs. Humpfer's lawn. The lady put down her gun.

"I was only prepared to protect what is mine," she reported in her victory statement after cessation of hostilities. "I won my point."

The city of Winter Park learned in one easy lesson that the property and dignity of a lady aroused is nothing to tamper with. Everybody in the neighborhood didn't give a hoot about the sewer, anyway. They all have septic tanks.

Eisenhower Had Hot Answer For Truman

WASHINGTON—When President-elect Eisenhower heard what President Truman said about demagoguery and his trip to Korea, he not only hit the ceiling, but sat down and wrote out a statement for the press.

If that statement had been published it would have sizzled around the world. It would have made more headlines than some of the President's own torrid letters and press statements.

Roughly, here is what Eisenhower wrote out in longhand and planned to say:

If President Truman had gone to Korea it would have been political demagoguery, since Mr. Truman is a politician and doesn't have the military background to assess such a situation.

However, Jim Hagerty, press-relations adviser to the President-elect, tactfully talked him out of it. In the end, the statement was labeled: "File and forget."

Admiral Makes Hit With Ike

It looks as if fiery, redheaded, Adm. Arthur Radford, commander of the U. S. fleet in the Pacific, has talked himself into a potent position with the President-elect.

Most Navy men have been dubious about Eisenhower's attitude toward the Navy, figured that as a lifelong Army man he would favor his own branch of the service.

However, persuasive Adm. Radford, scheduled to see Eisenhower for exactly one hour at Iwo Jima, stayed on for the entire trip.

Eisenhower's stop at Iwo was a retreat and to give the President-elect a chance to stretch his legs. Adm. Radford met him, and at the end of one hour's talk with Radford, Ike came back to his plane and asked the pilot: "Can't we make room for the admiral?"

So Radford went along. Furthermore, he had such a way with Eisenhower that he persuaded him to revamp his schedule and stop off at Radford's guest house in Hawaii.

The cruise on the Helena had been arranged well before Eisenhower left the U. S., but the stopover in Hawaii was not on the schedule. Original plans called for Eisenhower's departure by air from Hawaii immediately after the Helena docked. However, Adm. Radford had so ingratiated himself with the President-elect by "this time that arrangements were changed."

Actually, no military strategy was discussed at Hawaii. The President-elect golfed and relaxed. There were no conferences, except for sessions held by Herbert Brownell and Secretary of the Interior to be McKay, who interviewed candidates for governor of Hawaii. Two top candidates are Randolph Crossley, chairman of the GOP Territorial Central Committee, and Sam King, former Hawaiian delegate to Congress.

Most significant aspect of the Eisenhower-Radford friendship is the effect it may have on the Air Force. Radford was the most controversial of all top-ranking admirals in blasting the B-36 and working against Secretary of Air Stuart Symington and Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson when Johnson banned the Navy's super airplane carrier.

Radford, then in charge of the Navy's air arm, gave directions to "Operation 23," the secret Navy propaganda office working against the Air Force, met privately with Adm. Gerald F. Bogan just before Bogan wrote his famous letter complaining of Navy morale, and was so critical of the Air Force that Congressman Paul Kilday of Texas, listening to Navy gripes, reproved him.

"Admiral, I am disappointed that you did not come here with an affirmative statement of what the Navy can do. Instead of a criticism of what the Air Force can do."

Eventually, Admiral Radford was transferred to the Pacific in order to remove him from the Air Force controversy.

But since his Pacific trip with Ike, he may well come back as chief of naval operations—top job in the Navy.

PACIFIC PIPELINE

Backstage With Ike—Aboard the cruiser Helena, Ike played a lot of bridge and read western stories when he wasn't conferring. His partner at bridge was Herbert Brownell, new attorney general and patronage boss; also two subordinate naval officers. At NATO Ike used to play bridge with Gen. Al Gruenther, considered the best bridge player in the Army. . . .

Golfing at Kaneohe, Hawaii, Ike was completely off his game. That was the reason he refused to give his score to newsmen afterward. Not once did he make the rounds under 100, though he ruefully remarked that at Augusta he had shot 86 and 84. . . .

The President-elect didn't seem particularly perturbed by the Korean visit, and there was no specific reason why his game was off. . . . Ike golfed in red baseball cap, bright yellow shoes, and pink sports shirt. . . . Arriving at Pearl Harbor, Gen. "Slick" Persons looked down at the crowd and remarked: "It's nice to see so many friendly faces without worrying how they'll vote later."

Military Strategy—When MacArthur's announcement that he had a plan to end the Korean War was relayed to Eisenhower aboard the Helena, he was skeptical, but didn't want to give the public the impression he wasn't open to any and all ideas re Korea. . . . Some of the people around him were much harsher in their reaction toward MacArthur, called him "childish." . . . At the Seoul military talks, most sobering warning came from the Air Force. Nature of the warnings cannot be revealed for security reasons, but they were such that Eisenhower probably hasn't made up his mind even now regarding future Korean strategy. . . .

It looks almost certain that Eisenhower will ask the U. N. to bring two Chinese Nationalist divisions into the Korean War, one to be kept at the front, the other behind the front, and rotated. Gen. Mark Clark, who long has wanted to use troops from Formosa, argued that it was a good idea to test the Nationalists under fire. . . . Chief objection to using Chiang's troops, it was agreed, is the British, but it was also believed the British would go along if the idea is handled diplomatically.

ARCH DONOVAN

In Step With The Sower

SEN. Arthur Carmody of Trenton who has been "chief watchdog" of the Nebraska treasury for the past two years headed the powerful budget committee of the legislature.

The Sower that Nebraska treasury has more than doubled since the biennium starting in 1946 and about tripled since 1944. In addition to the agricultural leases, $451,250 was collected from gas and oil leases.

He reports that royalties from wells will be starting as soon as pipe lines are completed. Chief complaint from those interested in getting maximum returns for the trust is that valuations have not been increased by the board as rapidly as surrounding land values and farm income have increased.

A letter of inquiry from Editor Carl Flagstad of the Minot, N.D., News has provided Hugo Srb, clerk of the Legislature, with an idea for state use of the Frank Woods home in case it is not desired as a mansion.

North Dakota is proposing a dormitory for inadequately compensated members of the Legislature who find cost of hotel rooms too high. Srb suggests that the Woods' home might be converted into a dormitory now that the pay increase for legislators was defeated at the last election.

The Sower has found other backers for the idea who point out that it would give senators an opportunity to escape the blandishments of the host of lobbyists who surround them at hotels.

STAFFS to care for the senators' needs in the 24-room house possibly could be recruited from the state penal institutions.

The biggest drawback mentioned was the fact that no space would be available for the wives of the accompanying senators to the sessions.

The parsimony in pay of state employees appears to be common in the Middle West and some contend is a contributing factor to more and more doctors specializing in geriatrics as youths leave and Nebraska becomes one of the eight states with more than 10 per cent of the population 65 years of age or older.

dition there were bonuses of $4,258,688 for the 2,259 leases that expired.

SECRETARY Henry Bartling reports that school land revenue has more than doubled since the biennium starting in 1946 and about tripled since 1944. In addition to the agricultural leases, $451,250 was collected from gas and oil leases.

He reports that royalties from wells will be starting as soon as pipe lines are completed. Chief complaint from those interested in getting maximum returns for the trust is that valuations have not been increased by the board as rapidly as surrounding land values and farm income have increased.

A letter of inquiry from Editor Carl Flagstad of the Minot, N.D., News has provided Hugo Srb, clerk of the Legislature, with an idea for state use of the Frank Woods home in case it is not desired as a mansion.

North Dakota is proposing a dormitory for inadequately compensated members of the Legislature who find cost of hotel rooms too high. Srb suggests that the Woods' home might be converted into a dormitory now that the pay increase for legislators was defeated at the last election.

The Sower has found other backers for the idea who point out that it would give senators an opportunity to escape the blandishments of the host of lobbyists who surround them at hotels.

STAFFS to care for the senators' needs in the 24-room house possibly could be recruited from the state penal institutions.

The biggest drawback mentioned was the fact that no space would be available for the wives of the accompanying senators to the sessions.

The parsimony in pay of state employees appears to be common in the Middle West and some contend is a contributing factor to more and more doctors specializing in geriatrics as youths leave and Nebraska becomes one of the eight states with more than 10 per cent of the population 65 years of age or older.

Only in four New England states and Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas and Missouri does this high percentage prevail.

Once Upon A Christmas Eve

Or The Story Of Little Eski . . .

By William Ritt

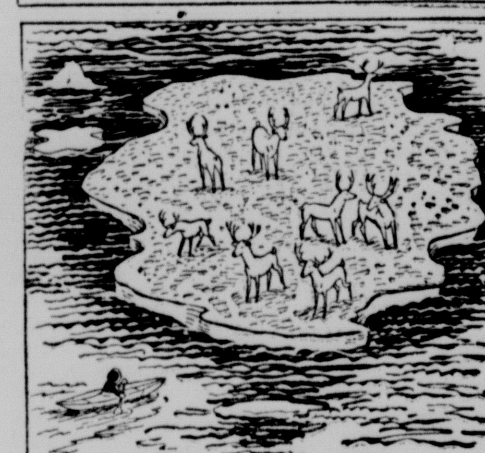

WHENEVER Eski is sad or troubled, the little Eskimo child goes fishing. So, too worried over the disappearance of Santa's reindeer to sleep, Eski tiptoes out of the family igloo so as not to awaken either Father or Mother.

CARRYING a small-size kayak (that's an eskimo canoe), the little child heads for the seashore. Maybe, while fishing in the icy waters, Eski can think of a way to help Santa Claus find his reindeer. There must be a way!

SITTING SNUGLY in the small canoe, Eski paddles far out to sea and thinks and thinks so hard the Eskimo child forgets all about the fish which, anyway, are hiding far down in the water, away from the icy cold.

ESKI suddenly looks up and—lo, and behold!—there is a big ice floe floating out to sea and on it are all eight of Santa Claus' runaway reindeer. Eski blinks and blinks. Can it really be true? (To Be Continued)

The People Speak

A Rock And A Rose

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: How can Sports Editor Anderson take a left-handed rap at the baseball directors, exclaiming Mr. Schimmel and Mr. Baley? Apparently he does not remember who the men were who initiated and carried out the original campaign to raise the money to build Sherman Field and to which these men contributed generously of their time and money. Such articles make no friends for baseball and even with the amount now pledged, it may need all the friends it can get.

A. WOLDER

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Here's how I feel about the current fund-raising campaign on behalf of baseball in Lincoln:

It's the little guy who does it. When the big lad fails at bats. Hits the ball outside the diamond. Makes us all shake off our fat. Always modestly declining. Working nothing 'til invited. But when a call to duty comes. He is there and with a might.

There's the home-run we've been noting. Norrie hit it far and wide. In his hit and when he landed. And he hit a welcome stride. Some had given up completely. Baseball in Lincoln sunk. But it's back because of Norrie. Showing that such stuff is "bunk."

And it was no big feat, yielded. A keyboard served him best. It pounded out a story. Suingt fandum's loyal chest. All along somehow a spirit. Seemed to drag its feet and tire. 'Til Norrie touched the keyboard. And set the town on fire.

Crosby And Taxes

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Nebraska's governor-elect says he will go into office next month with the "fixed intention" that the state property tax burden shall be decreased by at least $1,173,000 a year for the next two years. You have said editorially that it will not be easy and that anyone who is in the least familiar with Nebraska's problems knows it would be far easier to spend more than to spend less. Taxes of all kinds in recent years have been going up faster than the real income of the people.

I venture the guess that many thousands of taxpayers in Nebraska will give the matter more attention than heretofore—and, incidentally, members of the incoming legislature.

J. R. FARRIS

Brock, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Mr. Crosby has been quoted to the effect that he plans to reduce state taxes to at least .38 of a mill—and this at a time when Nebraska's highways are falling apart, the University of Nebraska's College of Medicine is about to lose its Class A accreditation, and the assistance program is in a desperate mess as exemplified by the fact that the ADC ceiling for our family of five is $115, with the state assistance department's computation leaving a balance of $14.10 for housing, heat, clothing and other necessities. Imagine trying to stretch $14.10 over these items for an entire month—and this has been going on for five years.

Purest Expression

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Mr. Ralph E. Allen's letter in the Dec. 12 Star should not be allowed to go unanswered. I am not concerned with his attack on Drew Pearson, but when he presents in that attack such a distorted conception of the practical work of Christianity and religion, someone should point out his errors to him. The Sermon on the Mount has not at any time been "in use" in Russia or in any extant nation at any time since its origin. Did Russia have it written in her laws? It has never been either a part of the formal laws or the mores of any nation, civilized or not. How can Mr. Allen say that it failed to produce peace,

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: So Terry Carpenter proposes to out-McCarthy McCarthy! He intimates that a "naive school girl" knows nothing about Communism and its horrid evils, and thereupon proposes a program for our University that would forever keep Miss Ruth Raymond and all other NU students in ignorance of exactly what Communism is.

I am opposed to anything that threatens academic freedom in our public schools, from kindergarten to university. Free men demand the whole truth; that's what keeps them free. I commend every statement of Prof. Anderson in his defense of the use of such Chancellor Gustavson—and Prof. Anderson, too—show that they are the kind of men who should occupy these high places in our educational system—men of broad, well-balanced minds—men who are well-informed on both sides of the issue, which is evidently what they wish to insure for every student under their supervision.

Drive Made For Boost In Factories

By the Associated Press

The great corn, wheat and cattle state of Nebraska is making a successful pitch for industry.

The bid for factories to balance an agriculture-heavy economy hit its stride during 1952.

Nineteen cities and towns reported to the Division of Nebraska Resources 29 new manufacturing and processing industries started during 1952.

They will put 1,700 persons to work at an estimated annual payroll of five million dollars.

Significant expansion programs at 25 more plants in 11 communities will provide jobs for 600 more at two million dollars a year.

Nebraska badly wants this new industry.

In the population drift away from the farm in the 30s, Nebraska had seen its young people also drift away from their home state. If they didn't want to stay on the farm, where else could they go?

The war-born industries of the early 40s helped take up the slack as 10,000 persons deserted farm jobs during the decade from 1940 to 1950.

Nebraskans, too, remember the lean years of short crops.

The state isn't getting its new industry by sitting on its hands.

Speakeading the Cornhusker sales campaign is the resources division. Deployed behind it are eager local chambers of commerce and other business groups.

In a 16-page rotogravure supplement to the New York Times several weeks ago, the resources division told industry and business what Nebraska has to offer. It listed:

Groups Organize

Organized for that job are the Greater Norfolk Corp., Fairbury Industrial Development Corp., Hastings Corp., York Industries Corp., Greater Kearney Corp., Omaha's Committee for '52, Fremont Industries Inc., Grand Island's Industrial Development Corp., and similar Columbus and Lincoln corporations.

Groups at Central City, Cozad, Lexington, Holdrege, Minden and Beatrice are talking about getting into the swim.

An "old-timer" among these organizations is the Hastings Corp., set up in 1947. That year it built a building for the Mode O'Day Corp., which manufactured blouses there. At first the plant employed 65 persons. Today its work force is 140.

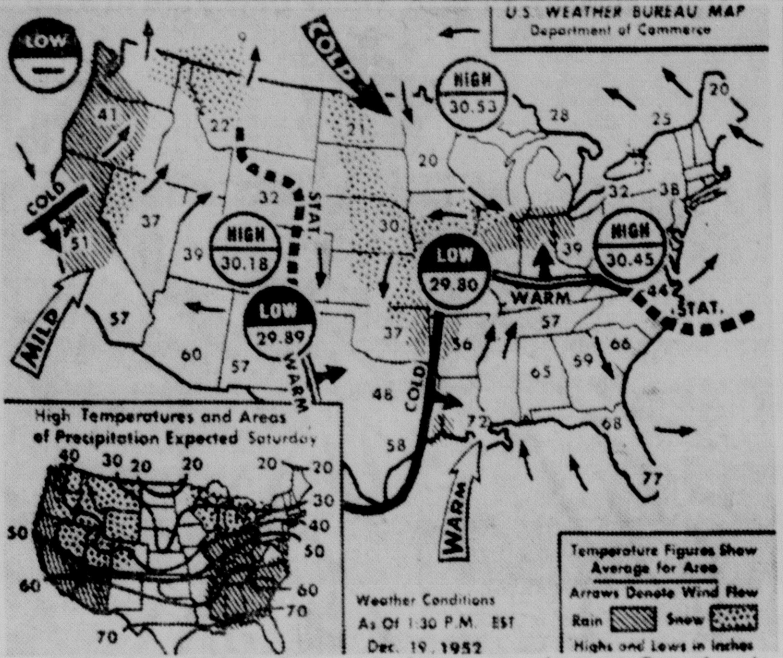

The same corporation helped attract the Wright Potato Chip Co. to Hastings two years ago and recently added the Kieckhefer Container Co.

One of the newer organizations is Fremont Industries whose backers sold $100 shares to business and professional men as "payroll insurance."

The chamber-organized Falls City Industries has a different twist to the basic plan. The $100,000 corporation owned by 83 Falls Cityans, founded a farm implement business of its own. It manufactures a machine called the "high lift hay stacker."

Biggest of the newly established industries in Nebraska are Allied Chemical and Dye and Continental Can plants at Omaha. Each will employ 500.

Others among the larger operations are American Meter Co., Nebraska City, which will start

RAIN AND SNOW—Rain and showers are forecast Saturday for Pacific coastal states, most of eastern third of U.S. from Ohio and central Mississippi Valley south to Gulf of Mexico except for New England states and eastern portion of mid-Atlantic states. Snow mixed with rain also is due in upper Mississippi Valley and Rocky Mountain states. It will turn colder in Gulf states, central Mississippi Valley and south Atlantic states and warmer along eastern slopes of Rockies. Little change is expected over rest of U.S. (AP Wirephoto Map Friday Night.)

Nebraska Dwellings Increased 8 Per Cent From 1940 To 1950

WASHINGTON (AP)—From 1940 to 1950, while the state's population was increasing 1 per cent, the number of dwelling units in Nebraska increased 8 per cent.

The Bureau of Census reported that there were 387,368 units in the state in 1940 and 417,245 ten years later.

The bureau said the percentage of increase was considerably less than the national average, however.

Nationally, housing units were up 23 per cent, compared with a population jump of 14 per cent.

In Nebraska, 41 per cent more units were owner-occupied in 1950 than in 1940. The number of renters was down 19 per cent.

In 1950, 61 per cent of Nebraska homes were owner-occupied.

More than a quarter of the state's dwelling units were located on farms.

Of cities over 10,000, Scotts-

Industrial Bid Is Planned By Holstein Group

Holstein with a population of 187 will make a determined effort to see that the rest of the state does not pass it up industrially. In an effort to improve and obtain new business and industry, they have organized Holstein Improvement, Inc.

Articles of incorporation were filed with the secretary of state Friday and authorized capital is $25,000. The new group is organized to buy land, and build or otherwise assist industries.

Incorporators are: Harry Miller, Otto Hansen, J. W. Essinger, Clayton D. Lukow and L. D. Essinger.

with 200 workers and expand to 400; Bear Brand Hosiery at Kearney; 36, starting with 30 and planning to up its force to 125; and Kieckhefer Container Corp. at Hastings which will employ 75.

The biggest expansion was at Elgin Watch plant in Lincoln. Two floors were added to the plant, making it five stories in all. An additional 500 to 600 workers are employed as a result of the enlarged plant.

bluff had the greatest home building spurge during the decade. The number of dwelling units there built in 1940 or later was 25.3. Other percentages:

Beatrice 10.6, Fremont 17.3, Grand Island 16.2, Hastings 23.1, Kearney 15.4, Lincoln 13.0, Norfolk 11.1, North Platte 24.0 and Omaha 10.7.

The Lincoln metropolitan area had a 14.6 increase and the Omaha metropolitan area 12.2.

The percentage of homes with refrigerators ranged 92.5 at Lincoln to 83.4 at Kearney. Percentage with central heating ranged from a top of 88.1 at Lincoln to 56.4 at North Platte.

Year-To-Year Land Tenancy Case Reversed

Reversing the position taken by the District Court in Chase and Dundie Counties, the State Supreme Court Friday outlawed year-to-year tenancy of state school lands.

In the Chase County case, Cecil Gardner sought to retain tenancy of tract of land under a lease issued by the Board of Educational Lands and Funds in 1949.

Both leases were issued under the automatic renewal act of 1947, which the Supreme Court held unconstitutional in 1951.

Board Sued

When the Board of Educational Lands and Funds put the leases up at auction in accordance with the 1951 Supreme Court decision, the original lessees sought to retain tenancy of the land, and the board sued to gain possession for the successful bidders.

In ruling on the Gardner and Cooley cases, the Supreme Court recalled the Ebke case in which the automatic renewal act of 1947 was held unconstitutional.

The court pointed out that school lands are held in trust by the state for educational purposes, and must be administered under rules of law applicable to trustees acting in a fiduciary capacity.

No Statutory Authority

"We find no statutory authority, and none has been cited, authorizing the board to create year-to-year tenancies in school lands. In the absence thereof no such tenancies can be created," the court declared.

Successful bidders for the Cooley lease were Claude O. and Alma C. Frasier. Andrew and Herman Banks bid for the Gardner lease.

Low Guard Rail Bids Announced

Apparent low bids on installation of guard rail for five projects have been reported by the State Highway Department.

They are:

Johnson, Otoe, Nemaha and Cass Counties—Wrenn and Taylor, Grand Island, $6,482.

Colfax and Dodge Counties—Norfolk Bridge and Construction Co., $3,853.

Fillmore County—Wrenn and Taylor, $640.

Boyd and Holt Counties—Atkinson Sand and Gravel, $1,365.

Custer and Loup Counties—Hill's Sand and Gravel, Polk, $1,026.

OMAHA (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. J. Hershberger gave a gala party, although their son who would have celebrated his 19th birthday then died last January.

Larry Hershberger, a University of Nebraska freshman, died of acute leukemia.

The party was for the "forgotten kids" of University Hospital here, some of whom may never see another Christmas.

But they had no chance to sense any sad undertone during the party. First came a puppet show, then a surplus of food including decorated moulds of ice cream and individual plates of Christmas cookies.

'Average' County Levy Base Suggested

Armstrong's Vehicle Tax Plan Stated

A plan whereby motor vehicles in Nebraska would be taxed the average total rural or urban mill levy in the county, depending whether the vehicle is registered in a rural or urban tax district, has been suggested by Robert M. Armstrong, executive director of the Nebraska Citizens Council.

However under R. M. Armstrong's plan, the average mill levy for R. M. Armstrong the tax base would "exclude those tax levies made by the tax districts or government agencies that do not receive any part of the motor vehicle tax under the wording of the amendment."

Armstrong's suggestions were stated in a letter to Sen. Earl J. Lee, Fremont, chairman of the committee. For Constitutional Amendments.

Okayed By Voters

The amendment empowering the legislature to devise a new method of motor vehicle taxation was approved by Nebraska voters at the last election.

The plan suggested by Armstrong includes:

1. A schedule of values for motor vehicles for tax purposes shall be computed at the same ratio as the average assessment of other tangible personal property in the state bears to actual value.
2. The county assessor will determine the average total mill

Sanitary District Grants Pay Raise

All 20 employees of Sanitary District 1 were given a $10 a month salary increase at the District board meeting.

The raise will be effective Jan. 1. The increase will bring the range of salaries to a low of $140 a month up to the highest paid man at $468 a month.

The last increase to District employees was granted one year ago when the board adopted a job classification plan. At that time, the new classifications resulted in raises ranging from $7.50 to $60 a month.

The five members of the board do not share in any salary increase. Their salary is fixed by the state legislature.

Service Life Insurance Disability Premium Down

The Veterans Administration has announced a reduction in premium rates charged for total disability income benefits on five-year term National Service Life Insurance.

The benefit provides monthly income for the insured and continues his insurance in effect without the payment of premiums for as long as the insured is totally disabled.

At some ages the reduction is more than 50 per cent but as the age of the insured increases the reduction decreases to age 55 when there is no reduction in the cost of the benefit.

levy for all rural or urban tax districts in the county.

3. The amount of tax will be computed by applying to the value certified, the average total rural or urban mill levy.

The list of taxes on vehicles registered in the county to be delivered to the county treasurer by Jan. 1 of each year, with all vehicles registered after that time to be taxed by the county treasurer, using the same values and rates furnished by the assessor.

Paid At Registration

5. The tax would be paid at the time of registration, with provision for payment of 75, 50 or 25 per cent, depending upon the quarter of registration.

6. The tax would be allocated on a fraction basis, the denominator to be the total mill levy for the rural or urban district as the case may be, the numerator to be the total mill levy of the local tax district, county or state as the case may be.

Stating that he believes his suggestions "as nearly fair to all as it is possible" Armstrong cautioned that "even under our plan some will pay a little more and some a little less, and some school districts and towns will receive less revenue."

Armstrong also stated that although some gain in revenue collected would be made possible by collection of taxes before removal of the owner and his property before tax time and by collection at the time of registration, "we doubt if the gains from these sources would offset the loss from a reduced motor vehicle tax."

Armstrong invites "full discussion and criticism if someone has a more fair and workable idea."

Meet STAR Carrier Richard Stauning

Richard Stauning has delivered the Lincoln Star to subscribers between 10th and 18th streets and D to E streets since June 1, 1951. Dick, who is 14, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Stauning of 1635 C. He is in the ninth grade at Everett Junior High School. The profit Dick makes off Star route 637 averages $30 per month. This profit Dick spends wisely, buying his own clothes, sporting equipment and this time of year his own Christmas presents. Instead of having a savings account Richard purchases U.S. Defense Bonds.

In the summer months Dick's leisure time is spent at baseball. He is a player in the midwest league. Richard says his paper route offers him the opportunity to make his own money and the responsibility of handling it. All boys should have a paper route to prepare themselves for the future.

Boys interested in having a Lincoln Star route should apply at the Star office, 926 P. If you live outside Lincoln you should write to the Lincoln Star, Lincoln 1, Neb., about having a route.

Court Denies Sedlacek Plea For Freedom

The Nebraska Supreme Court Friday denied an application for release from the State Penitentiary by Charles Sedlacek.

Sedlacek, sentenced from Saline County for burglary in 1947, applied in Lancaster County for release on a writ of habeas corpus.

The court also upheld the sentence of Arlin Drewes of Seward County for ten months in the penitentiary for statutory rape.

A judgment of $1,894 which Clyde Linch obtained in Scotts Bluff County against Carl H. Carlson in a suit over irrigation assessments on school lands was upheld.

Red Cross Completes Apartment Fire Relief

Red Cross emergency assistance to 15 persons in nine families, all victims of an apartment fire early in December, has been completed, announced Joe Fenton, chairman of the Disaster Committee.

Nearly $1,000 was spent for food, clothing, household furnishings and moving expenses. Red Cross is responsible for assistance where five or more families are involved explained Fenton.

Lincoln City Tax Collections Lag

City tax collections for the 1952-53 fiscal year to date continued to lag behind last year during November.

To date, the current tax collections have been $642,968 or 34.62 per cent of the levy. For the same period last year, the city collected 53.81 per cent of its levy with $800,069.

Finance Director Theo. Berg, however, expects to catch up with last year during December. Small payments at the tax window, he said, have kept the tax commissioner's staff too busy to open the mail containing many large payments.

All mailed in returns, said Berg, have now been opened and will show up in the December report.

During November alone, the city collected $378,846 in taxes as compared to $512,109 collected the same month last year. Back taxes collected to date this year amount to $18,961 as compared to $19,392 collected in the same period last year.

In his November report, City Treasurer Frank Miller lists receipts for the month of $764,688 and debits of $539,085.

Miller also reported a balance on hand at the end of November of $3,179,542. Of that amount, $441,000 is in the general fund, $275,433 in other tax fund, $1,054,553 in self sustaining funds, $337,901 in definite purpose funds and $570,647 in special assessment district funds.

Interesting Betrothal Takes Top Spot In Holiday News

NEVER MIND waiting until December 25 — Santa Claus stopped off this morning and left some exceedingly interesting packages in the way of exciting news — a betrothal, no less — and here it is:

Dr. and Mrs. O. V. Calhoun are this morning announcing the engagement of their daughter, Jane Ann, to Walt Franklin Weaver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Weaver Jr.

Miss Calhoun is a junior at the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Delta Gamma sorority.

Mr. Weaver was graduated from the University of Nebraska with Phi Beta Kappa honors, and is a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity. He now is attending the Western Reserve University school of medicine at Cleveland, O.

THE HOLIDAY spirit really has come to town — You find it everywhere, the young, the not-so-young and the in-betweeners are imbued with it. It seems to be particularly accentuated in the homes where Christmas morning roll call will be answered by holiday guests from here, there and everywhere — including Santa Claus.

This holiday season is to be an especially gay one for the younger set, judging from our social calendar which reveals any number of teas —

THE FIRST of what seems to be a veritable tea epidemic is the 3 o'clock to 5 o'clock affair this afternoon when Miss Sissy Walker and Miss Margaret Gardner are tea hostesses at the home of Miss Walker. The incentive for the party is Miss Walker's house guest, Miss Betty Waite of Salt Lake City, who arrived very early this morning to spend the holidays in her former home town — Lincoln.

We hear that about one hundred invitations were issued for the tea, and that the guest list will include the feminine night-grads crowd at Irving junior high school.

THEN WE learned that Miss Linda Walt, Miss Judy Truell and Miss Nancy Coover are to be tea hostesses at the home of the young Miss Walt, a week from today. Again the Irving ninth-grade set will be in evidence, and will greet their hostesses between the hours of 2 o'clock and 5 o'clock.

THE FOLLOWING Monday — December 29, the young females will be out and about again — this time at the home of Miss Dianna Gease where Miss Gease and Miss Lynn Meyers will greet seventy-five guests during the hours of 2:30 o'clock and 5 o'clock.

THE LAST one to be found in our little red book — at the moment — is the tea for which Miss Barbara Beechner and Miss Dallas Hunt are to be hostesses on Friday afternoon, January 2, at the home of Miss Beechner — with the junior sub-debs again on the invitation list.

SO MUCH FOR the young set — and on to other matters of interest — You might ask Mr. and Mrs. Royal Brewster about their recent stay in Prescott, Ariz., the next time you see them — Mr. and Mrs. Brewster returned home Thursday evening after an extensive trip to the west coast and the south-west — Mrs. Brewster, we learned, went ahead, driving to California with friends — That was in November — About December 1 Mr. Brewster and John Agee took off for the coast where Mr. Agee visited relatives in Claremont, Cal., and the Brewsters went hither and yon with Los Angeles as headquarters.

En route home Mr. and Mrs. Brewster spent some time in Santa Fe, Taos, and then headed for home — An overnight stop was an exceedingly lovely motel in Prescott where, while the Brewsters were sound asleep, they were robbed of all of their folding money — Thieves had opened a case window, reached in and unlocked the door — took Mr. Brewster's wallet and left as quietly as they came. The next morning the wallet was found under another car — but needless to say the money was gone.

BUT HAPPIER days are in store for Mr. and Mrs. Brewster — their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Brewster, and the Brewster twins — Linda and Larry — will be coming from Omaha, and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Don Lentz and their young son, Mike, will come from Deshler to spend the Christmas week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Brewster.

THERE'S to be something of a family reunion at the home of Mrs. W. B. Comstock, too — Mrs. Comstock will have as her Christmas guests her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Tucker and their two sons, Tuck and Tommy, of Marion, Kans.; another son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Van Auker of Wisner; Mr. and Mrs. Duane Hatfield and Mr. Hatfield of Lexington, and of course her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Mason and their family of Lincoln.

Another daughter, Mrs. Charles Watkins (Wilma Comstock) and her family will not

Beta Sigma Phi Chapters Have Yule Parties

Beta Sigma Phi chapters, it seems, have been busy this month with Christmas parties, anniversaries, and songfests.

On Friday evening, December 12, LAMBDA IOTA chapter held its annual Christmas party at Colner Terrace. Later in the evening, at the home of Mrs. Loy Jones, gifts were exchanged and a short business meeting was held.

The group voted to donate time to work at the Lincoln General hospital card desk during visiting hours and also approved of the City Council project, a bake sale, the proceeds from which are to go to the Polio Foundation through the Inter Club council.

Miss Joanne Moline was in charge of arrangements, assisted by Miss Ellen Fitting, Mrs. Richard Hueser, Miss Norma Due and Miss Helen Stewart.

LAMBDA chapter held its Christmas party on Wednesday evening, December 17, at the home of Barbara Dickinson. Entertainment for the evening was the exchanging of Christmas gifts and a Christmas songfest.

Hostesses for the evening, besides Miss Dickinson, were Jo Nuekum and Delores Peterson, and guests included Ann Boyd, Eloise, Elias, Marsha Elias, Charlotte Walters, Lucille Garrison and Evelyn Casey.

The chapter also held a dinner in celebration of its twenty-first anniversary on Friday, December 5, at the Cornhusker hotel.

AND ARRIVING from Chicago in time for Christmas, and remaining through the Christmas week-end will be Mr. and Mrs. Robert Chambers who are to be the guests of Mr. Cham-

HAVE SOME postscripts on the away-at-school — set news — Miss Sandra Singer, according to a communique from Bradford college, Bradford, Mass., will be in Lincoln to spend the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Singer — We have news for Bradford college — Miss Singer already is home.

THE EAST COAST has many representatives from Lincoln in its prep schools and colleges — Among them is Miss Jean Aiken, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Aiken, who returned from Emma Willard earlier this week — Her brother, Philip Aiken, Jr., a junior at Princeton university, arrived home Friday for the holiday season.

LOOKED THROUGH the week-end calendar and found that Mr. and Mrs. William R. Wright had made reservations for a dinner on Sunday evening at the Lincoln Country club — Further investigation provided the information that the affair was a reunion of an old dinner club — and that Mr. and Mrs. Victor Toft would be coming from Omaha to attend the affair.

PART OF our school set news this morning has to do with Miss Anne Palmer who will be home on Saturday from Oberlin College, Oberlin, O., to spend the holidays with her mother, Dr. Janet Palmer.

UNDERSTAND that Mr. and Mrs. John Spear and their son, John, will come from Kearney the day before Christmas to spend Christmas eve and Christmas day as the guests of Mrs. Spear's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hoppe.

THE DWINELLS — Mr. and Mrs. Lowell B., and their daughter, Jean, will come from Chicago to spend Christmas with Mrs. Dwinell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jean R. Kinder.

HAD YOU heard that Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Zumwinkle were in town? They arrived Wednesday from Denver and Allenspark, Colo., to spend a few days with Lincoln friends. Mr. and Mrs. Zumwinkle stopped off en route to Cincinnati, O., where they will be the holiday guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Chadwick — and their new granddaughter who now is one month old.

During their stay in Lincoln Mr. and Mrs. Zumwinkle will be the houseguests of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Horne.

—one lucky lady is really going to enjoy Christmas this year. She entered one of the numerous baking contests sponsored by flour companies and, while mixing her cookie dough, left to answer the telephone. When she returned she discovered that her young son had added something to the mixture. Pressed for time, she baked the cookies anyway, won a goodly cash prize, and has had to apologize to her offspring ever since.

PTA Yule Programs

In place of their regular meeting, the members of WHITTIER PTA held a coffee hour in the cafeteria preceding the school's annual Christmas program. The hostesses included Mrs. R. E. Carlson, Mrs. W. E. Hartman, Mrs. Ray Pillard, Mrs. W. M. True and Mrs. Lloyd Schubert.

With the nativity story illustrated by Christmas music as the theme for their program, the ninth grade girls' chorus sang from the stage of the school auditorium with the voices of the other grades blending in from the balcony. Miss Ann Jane Hall and Miss Sharon Masek were soloists.

Three separate programs on the Christmas theme were presented at HARTLEY school this week. On Monday morning, instrumental students presented a program of Christmas music directed by their instructor, and Wednesday morning, "All Set for Christmas", a take-off on a television program, was given by kindergarten, first, second and third grade pupils.

Friday morning, a chorus of one hundred fifty voices, including fourth, fifth and sixth grade pupils, presented their annual concert of Christmas songs.

Mrs. C. W. Folden, adult education chairman for Hartley PTA, has announced that a new eight weeks course, "Decorative Notes in the Home", will begin on January 15. The schedule for the course will be announced at a later date.

To Celebrate Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Hunt, 2412 South Seventeenth street, will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary on Sunday, December 21, when they hold open house between the hours of 2 o'clock and 5 o'clock, at the First Methodist church in Crete.

Mr. and Mrs. Hunt, who were married in Crete, resided there until seven years ago when they moved to Lincoln.

Dance Saturday

The Swinger Cheat Dance club will hold its Christmas dance in the Y.W.C.A. gymnasium on Saturday evening, December 20.

Franco Ready To Let Spanish Volunteers Help U.N. In Korea

Lauds U.S. Contribution In Conflict

By FRANK L. KLUCKHOHN
(World Copyright 1952 by International News Service)

MADRID (INS)—Generalissimo Francisco Franco has declared that he is prepared to permit Spanish volunteers to take part in the Korean War on the side of the United Nations.

In an exclusive interview, the generalissimo said he is prepared to let Spanish troops fight in Korea under their own officers even though the Korean struggle is technically a U. N. action and the U. N. has rejected Spain's application for membership.

Franco said he was moved to make the offer by the "magnificent" battle being waged by American forces in Korea.

"The world," he said, "does not fully realize the splendid sacrifice the United States is making in Korea. It is magnificent that Americans are fighting against communism so effectively so far from home and in such difficult terrain."

Franco expressed the opinion that many Spaniards would volunteer to fight in Korea if given the opportunity. He said the reason for sending volunteers instead of regular army units is that those who want to go will fight better.

The generalissimo added, however, that he believes Spain's major contribution in the struggle against communism could best be made in Europe for geographic reasons.

He said he agrees with Gen. Dwight Eisenhower that Asiatics—including Chinese Nationalists—should bear the brunt of the fighting in Korea.

Franco also said his government had information that more than 100 Soviet agents have played a big role in exploiting the current uprisings against the French in North Africa.

He voiced fear that public order in Morocco would deteriorate to the anarchic rule of local chieftains, internal fighting and demands for ransoms and tributes if France abandoned Morocco prematurely.

Costello To Be Shifted To Michigan Institution

ATLANTA (INS)—New York gambling kingpin Frank Costello will be transferred Monday from the Federal Penitentiary in Atlanta to the Federal Correctional Institution in Milan, Mich.

The move was disclosed in Federal District court at a hearing on a petition for writ of habeas corpus filed by the gambler.

Costello is serving a one-year sentence for contempt of Congress. He maintains he was sentenced for three separate misdemeanors and that the terms should be served in a "common jail," not a federal prison.

Assistant District Attorney Harvey H. Tisinger said the Michigan institution corresponds to a "common jail."

Reports That O'Dwyers Divorced Are Doubtful

MEXICO CITY (INS)—Persistent reports that William O'Dwyer and his beautiful wife, Sloan, have been divorced were discounted when a check of court records in both Mexico City and Juarez failed to receive a divorce application by the couple.

O'Dwyer, former New York mayor, resigned early this month as ambassador to Mexico.

A New York newspaper columnist reported that Mrs. O'Dwyer filed for the divorce in Juarez.

Generalissimo's Offer Arouses Interest At U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (INS)—United Nations sources have shown interest in Generalissimo Franco's offer to allow Spanish volunteers to fight for the U.N. in Korea.

The sources said Franco is free to submit any offer of troops to the Unified Command in Washington since both member and non-member nations of U. N. can take part in the struggle against Communist aggression.

Spain is not a U. N. member. The Unified Command, according to the informants, would then accept, defer or reject the offer on the basis of military considerations.

Japan's Progress Pleases Sparkman

TOKYO (INS)—U.S. Sen. John L. Sparkman, defeated U.S. Democratic candidate for the vice presidency, said here that he is glad to see Japan again taking her rightful place in the business world.

Sparkman, who is on a three-day visit to Japan as part of a round-the-world tour, said: "Small business plays a big part in the economic life of these islands. I am happy to see the small Japanese business enterprises re-creating their world trade."

Sparkman spoke to 250 members of the American-Japan Society and the Japan Chamber of Commerce and Industry.

Cost Of Living Equals Record Set In August

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government has reported that the cost of living edged up in November to equal the record high of last August.

The increase was insufficient, however, to prevent the nation's 14 million railroad workers from taking a penny an hour pay cut under the escalator clause in their wage contracts.

The index prepared by the Bureau of Labor Statistics showed that between mid-October and mid-November there was little change in the cost of foods and many other essential items. An increase in rents was in part responsible for the over-all increase for the month, which was recorded as one-tenth of 1 per cent.

The index reached 191.1 per cent of the average for the 1935-39 period. This means that it now costs 91.1 cents more to buy what a dollar bill would purchase in the 1935-39 era.

The new index is 1.3 per cent above November a year ago, and 12.3 per cent higher than just before the Korean War began.

Rents went up .6 per cent during the month, and retail prices for fuel, electricity, house furnishings and miscellaneous goods and services—such as telephone bills, public transportation charges and laundry services—also went up a bit.

Mail Volume About 7 Pct. Above 1952

The total Christmas mail volume at the Lincoln Post Office is now about seven per cent higher than for the previous year's comparable period, according to Superintendent of Mails Gerald Jones.

The total volume had been running slightly behind that of the record year 1951, a fact largely attributed to the "two extra mailing days before Christmas this year."

Ideal weather, until Friday, has leveled out the mail load and the superintendent guessed that the high points for outgoing letters and parcel post have passed.

Thursday Drop
Letters apparently reached their peak on Wednesday with more than 442,000 cancellations and dropped to 367,443 on Thursday—contrary to an earlier estimate that a half-million, equalling 1951's peak day, would be reached.

The 1951 peak day was largely caused by inclement weather, but Jones said a heavy snow could cause a similar occurrence this year.

The peak for outgoing parcel post was evidently Monday's 72,462 pounds, which may be an all-time high.

Peak days for incoming parcel post are estimated for Dec. 23 and 24.

Total letter cancellations during December reported up to Friday reached 3,730,000 as compared with the previous year's comparable 3,625,946.

Incoming parcel post now totals 736,369 pounds as compared with 1951's 722,844 pounds, and outgoing totals for 1951 are 701,965 pounds compared with last year's 685,132.

U. N. Unit Favors Early Drawing Up Of Austrian Pact

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (INS)—The U. N. Political Committee has approved a four power recommendation for early conclusion of a state treaty with Austria.

The committee approved the resolution—submitted by Brazil, Mexico, Lebanon, and The Netherlands—by 48 votes for, none against and two abstentions. The Soviet bloc did not participate in the vote while Afghanistan and Pakistan abstained.

The resolution, which now goes to the Assembly for ratification, appeals to the four occupying powers in Austria "to make a renewed and urgent effort to reach agreement on the terms of an Austrian treaty with a view to an early termination of the occupation of Austria and full exercise by Austria of the powers inherent in her sovereignty."

Girl, 14, Loses Her Life In Boarding School Fire

STOUGHTON, Mass. (INS)—A 14-year-old girl perished and three other girls and the woman proprietor suffered critical burns when a five-hour fire destroyed a three-story boarding school for Negro orphans and state wards.

The body of Anna Slade, 14, was found in the ruins of the rambling Whispering Willows structure.

Miss Josephine Crawford, 70, suffered severe burns about the face, arms and body while aiding in the rescue of 27 survivors.

The incoming total for Thursday of 83,123 pounds bested last year's figure by about 20,000, while outgoing was 84,392 pounds and was under last year's comparable 90,442 pounds.

Railroad Anti-Trust Suit Is Dismissed

Undramatic Close After Eight Years

The highly-publicized, eight-year-old anti-trust suit brought by the United States against the American Association of Railroads, et al, came to an undramatic end Friday in Lincoln as Federal Judge John W. Delehant ordered the case dismissed without prejudice to all parties.

The Federal Court order was based on the government's motion to dismiss without prejudice with the consent of all parties concerned.

Defendants of the anti-trust action, described as the largest ever filed by the government, were the Association of American Railroads, Western Association of Railway Executives, 47 individual railroads, executives and certain New York financial concerns.

"Without prejudice" were key words in the court order and government's motion and leaves the door open for the U.S. Attorney General to again bring suit against the same defendants on same or similar grounds.

Consent of all defending parties to the government's motion had the effect of dropping previous defending motions to dismiss, one of which was the basis for the hearing Friday.

Railroad defendants had moved for dismissal on grounds that the federal legislation had made the railroads immune from the anti-trust action.

A motion filed about a year earlier by the financial concerns and never ruled upon sought dismissal with prejudice on the merits of case—alleging the government's failure to sustain proof.

The suit for injunctive relief, brought on Aug. 23, 1944 by Wendell Berge, formerly of Lincoln and then an assistant attorney general, alleged the railroads unlawfully engaged in joint action in respect to their rates, fares, and charges through rate bureaus or conferences.

Attorney General James McGranery said in Washington that a law passed by Congress since the suit's filing—the Bulwinkle Act—provides the railroads cannot be prosecuted in an anti-trust action if they agree on rates and services with the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

He said this law makes the activities charged in the suit immune from anti-trust laws.

The court session that brought an end to the case lasted a little more than 10 minutes.

The government's motion was presented to the court by Frank F. Vesper of Washington, D.C., a special assistant to the Attorney General, who, with Joseph T. Votova of Omaha, U.S. District Attorney for Nebraska, had signed the motion.

Attorneys for the defending parties were Maxwell V. Beghtol and Earl Cline, both of Lincoln, Douglas F. Smith, Chicago, and Roger V. Fletcher, Washington, D.C., all representing the railroads, and Guy C. Chambers of Lincoln, representing J. P. Morgan & Co., and William L. Aiken of Lincoln, representing Kuhn, Loeb & Co. and Sir William Wiseman.

HE LIKES TUG-OF-WAR—Mrs. Grant Ackerman of 333 West Calvert coaxes her pet blue jay, Blue Bird, out of his cage with one of his favorite foods, a grape. The little bird also likes to play tug-of-war with Mrs. Ackerman when she has a piece of string. (Star Photo.)

Blue Boy Is Happy With New Friends In New Environment

By JOAN KRUEGER
Star Staff Writer

The day last spring when young Blue Boy was accidentally hit by a truck earmarked the beginning of a completely new environment and set of friends for him.

Since Grant A. Ackerman of 333 West Calvert, brought home the injured blue jay, just beginning to show feathers, and Mrs. Ackerman dropped food into its mouth, the spunky and playful bird has become a favorite family pet.

Today one of Blue Boy's favorite games is tug-of-war, says Mrs. Ackerman who discovered this by chance one day when dropping a piece of string in his cage. The bird tried to take it away—bracing his legs and jerking on the string. He goes through the process frequently now, she says.

Cats Are Wary

The cats at the Ackerman home have become somewhat wary of Blue Boy, for he will not miss the chance of delivering a sharp peck on their feet when they sit on top of the cage. Mrs. Ackerman says the cats react "as though someone had given them a hot foot."

The colorful blue jay, whose most recent "vocabulary" addition is "O.K.," whistles bars of music he has heard and will cry "thief, thief," reports Mrs. Ackerman who has also owned a crow and several canaries at different times.

For eating the bird likes grapes, apples and lettuce as well as worms. Mrs. Ackerman also feeds him hamburger.

Blue Boy, however, is so fond of worms found in fresh ears of corn, that Mrs. Ackerman plans to freeze several boxes of the worms next summer so the blue jay will have a supply during winter months.

Sooner Regents Back Down On Orange Bowl 'Gifts'

Lone Dissenter Prepared To Pay Expenses Himself

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—University of Oklahoma regents, defiant of the Big Seven last week, Friday in the face of possible disciplinary action withdrew plans to send football players to the Orange Bowl as spectators.

A week ago the board voted to allow the trip at university expense despite a conference rule which forbids gifts to athletes above room and board and tuition scholarships.

A statement following Friday's emergency meeting said the regents had decided the junket, to cost an estimated $10,463, "would be in direct violation" of the regulation.

The regents added they intend that the Sooners shall "in the foreseeable future retain membership in the Big Seven Conference and comply with conference rules."

They were reportedly turned down last Friday at Dallas in an exploratory quest for re-entry in the Southwest Conference of which Oklahoma was a charter member from 1914 to 1920.

The board last week took this attitude toward a Big Seven bowl ban which frustrated a Sooner desire to play in the Miami, Fla., New Year's Day classic.

"If they can't go as players, they'll go as spectators," regents then approved sending 23 lettermen and their wives to Miami by chartered plane along with the coaching staff, their wives and Ken Farris, athletic business manager, and Mrs. Farris.

Friday's vote to rescind the trip was 6-1. Quinton Little, Ardmore, Okla., oil man, said he had given his word the team would go and did not want to back down.

Little said he came to the meeting prepared to pay the team's expenses on his own but was refused.

The statement pointed out that last week's decision "was taken against the advice of the president of the university," Dr. George L. Cross.

Wary Badgers Drill Hard On Aerial Defense

LOS ANGELES (INS)—An air of determination pervaded the Wisconsin Badger camp Friday as Coach Ivy Williamson drilled his defensive halfbacks on what is, admittedly, their weakest point: pass protection.

Roy Burks and Paul Swaiko, 5-foot 8-inches and 6-foot 9-inches respectively, are confronted with the Herculean task of keeping USC Ends Ron Miller, 6-4, and Tom Nickoloff, 6-3, from dragging down the yard-gaining aerial maneuvers.

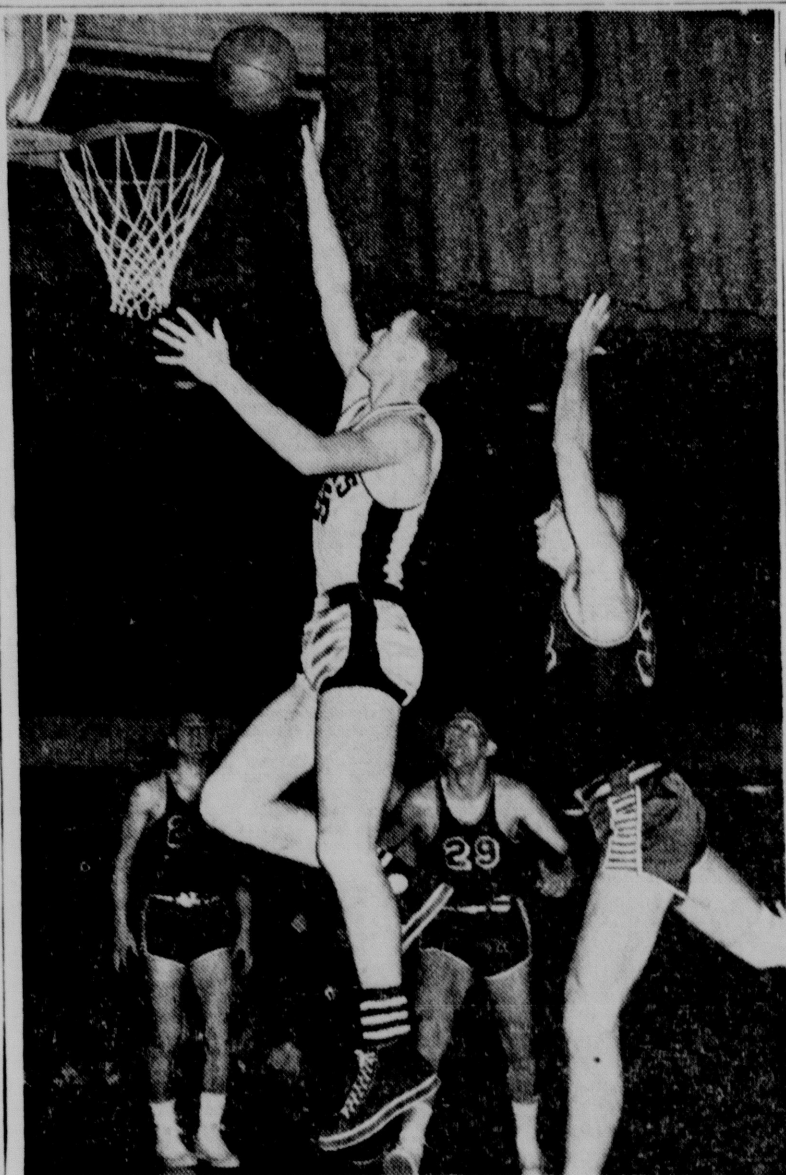

"I think our boys will need stepladders to stop those S. C. ends," Williamson said.

The Badger mentor was using every caution to minimize the possibility of injury to any of his charges before the New Year's Day Rose Bowl classic. He said: "We do not plan any full team scrimmage at all. We are pretty thin on defense and have nowhere near the depth we had last year."

Meanwhile, Southern California's George Bozanic, the Trojans' No. 1 blocking back since midway during the opening game, may get a chance at linebacking against the Big Ten representative.

Bozanic was a bruising line-backer last season, but Coach Jesse Hill made him into a blocking back this year. However, Bozanic has been drilling at his old love this week against the Spartans who have set up a facsimile of Wisconsin's T.

This raises speculation that Hill may be planning to use three line-backers against Wisconsin, in a 5-3-2-1.

Cathedral Hit, 45-35, By Bonnies

Bluebirds Unable Match Early Pace

Lincoln Star Special

COLUMBUS—Two baskets by Forward Sanders and another by Center Schmid in the first two minutes of the game gave St. Bonaventure a lead Cathedral of Lincoln was never able to overcome as the Bluebirds bowed, 45-35, here Friday night in their first loss of the season.

Guard Soulliers took over with two more buckets in the same frame to hurry the Bonnies off to a 17-10 first-quarter lead. He hit two more in the second half to make it 25-14 at halftime.

The Bluebirds got in motion during the final two frames, playing the host club at slightly better than even terms during the third half as they managed to pick up a lone point to trail, 24-34, going into the stretch.

Each club hit 11 points in the fourth quarter.

Sanders hit three fielders and had a nine-foot throw in the charity line to take scoring honors with 15 points. Soulliers had six buckets—two in each of the first three frames—and added a free throw to come in second with 13.

Center John Fagan topped the Cathedral scoring, getting a pair of buckets and 10 of 15 gratis efforts for 14 points. Darwin Jemming, lofty Bluebird forward, had three fielders for second honors.

The win ended a skein of four straight Cathedral victories over St. Bonaventure basketballers.

Erway Shines As Links Tumble Islanders, 45-36

By WAYNE PANTER

DON ERWAY, polished Lincoln Star Sports Staff Member, high guard, hit early, late and in between times to pace the Links to their third straight victory of the young case season, an unhampered 45-36 triumph over Grand Island.

It was the first loss in two starts for the Islanders, who opened the season with a 51-30 win over Lexington last week.

The unerring Erway rolled a total of 22 points down the s p o u t, manufacturing his healthy tally on the strength of eight baskets and a six-for-ten mark at the charity line.

And when he wasn't adding to his total he was doing his effective part to keep the baffled Islanders from getting more than an occasional chance at a bucket during the first three periods of the game.

In contrast to their opening encounter, the Links did not utilize their press but set up an air-tight defense under the Third City basket that saw the first four baskets directed to the Islanders' husky center, All-State Tackle Dick Mangelson, neatly intercepted by deft Ernie Hollibaugh.

With Erway hitting a pair of buckets and a gratis toss and Center Hollibaugh purloining those early passes, the Links swept almost unobstructed to a quick 8-2 lead over the disorganized Islanders. More than four minutes had elapsed before Forward Dick Rasmussen notched the visitors' first fielder.

And some additional eight minutes went by before Guard Ron Noel again hit from the field. By that time Forward LeRoy Buthers had notched three straight fielders and Erway and Forward John Beirick had added free throws to cut the pattern of the evening as the Links led, 20-10.

With the Red and Black holding a comfortable 24-16 halftime edge, the fiery Erway hit for eight points—including three consecutive fielders from under the basket—to turn the game into a near-rout. When Guard Ted King sank a free throw late in the third frame it doubled the count at 36-18.

Lincoln led, 37-21, at the quarter mark and Coach Lyle Weyand, who had substituted liberally all evening, jerked all of his starters save Erway. The subs kept up the pace for a little more than a minute and led, 42-23, when the Islanders suddenly reversed the tide.

Orville Clanton, taking over the center duties of Mangelson, was the big gun in the rally. Although he hit but once from the field, he swished four of nine charities. With 1:05 left the Third Citizens had cut the deficit to eight points at 42-34 as they held the Red and Black scoreless. Weyand reinstituted.

Erway and Buthers virtually monopolized the Lincoln scoring. The All-State end hit one of the high spots in his case career in ticking off four fielders for second-high scoring honors.

Defensively, Hollibaugh and Erway stood out among a half-dozen Links who kept the Islanders tightly stitched in and all the late stages of the game.

Rasmussen, whose four points in the final frame helped boom the Third City rally, was top scorer for Coach Bob Gregory's club. His three fielders and three-for-four at the foul line combined for a nine-point total, followed by Mangelson's eight and Clanton's seven.

In the curtain-raiser, the juniors on Coach Harold Scott's reserve squad stopped the sophomores, 56-51.

Graham Loses, Laments, And Leaves Ring With Win

By CHARLES EINSTEEN

NEW YORK—Boxing Commission Chairman Bob Christenberry, the boating of a small but angry crowd loud in his ears, reversed a split-decision ruling minutes after the fight ended Friday night in an unprecedented action that made Billy Graham winner over Joey Giardello.

After Giardello had been declared the winner of the 10-round welterweight headliner at Madison Square Garden—making it the second straight time a fight between those two had ended exactly this way—Christenberry heeded a plea from the infuriated Graham, who refused to leave the ring.

He impounded the cards of the two judges and the referee and changed the card of one of the judges to give the fight to Graham.

The card that was changed by Christenberry and Commission Member J. B. Powell, was that of Judge Joe Agnello. Agnello had voted 6 rounds to 4 for Giardello. Referee Ray Miller had Giardello favored 5 rounds to 4 with one even, and Judge Charley Shortell gave it to Graham, 7 rounds to 3.

State Wildcats Whip Irish, 80-64, In Spartan Classic Tilt

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Kansas State, making good use of its great height and sharp shooting, raced into an early lead and held the advantage throughout the game to whip Notre Dame, 80-64, and set a new scoring record for the annual Spartan Basketball Classic Friday.

It was the fourth consecutive win of the young season for Kansas State, rated second in the Associated Press poll. Notre Dame, seventh in the standings this week, had won its four previous games.

The 80-point total shattered the old classic scoring record set last year by Minnesota in its 75-62 victory over Dartmouth.

Center Dick Knostman with six baskets, and forward Jesse Priscock, with five buckets, led a frantic first-half scoring spree that put Kansas State ahead by a 16-point, 44-28, margin at the half.

Notre Dame Center Norb Lewinski, who has been averaging better than 16 points a game, was held scoreless during the first half and made only nine points in the second.

Knostman and Priscock set the pattern of the game as both scored in the first two minutes to put Kansas State ahead 4-0. Knostman was high man with 22 points. Priscock made 13 points before he fouled out in the final period.

For Notre Dame, guard Jack Stephens, with 17 points, and forwards Dick Rosenthal, with 15, and Joe Bertrand, with 14, were the high scorers.

Hereford Champ Brings Top Price $1,525

50 Animals Are Sold At State Show

KEARNEY, Neb. (AP) — The champion bull of the Nebraska State Polled Hereford Show sold at auction Friday for $1,525.

The bull, Hervalation 44th, was shown by Herve Farm of Wayne, Mrs. A. R. Johnson of Jacksboro, Tex., bought the animal for the top price paid at the sale.

The reserve champion was S. R. Numode Choice 2nd, consigned by Henry Kuhlman Jr., of North Platte. It sold to Sans Kirk of Platte, S. D., for $1,500.

The champion female, a summer yearling heifer Gossamer 134th, brought $940 at auction from Schnell and Smith of Lemmon, S. D. The animal was consigned by Haussler & Helms of Holbrook.

Lena Mixe, a senior heifer consigned by Tegtmeyer Hereford Farms of Burdard, was named reserve champion. Schnell & Smith paid $625 for the animal.

Weather hampered attendance at the show, the first strictly Polled Hereford show sponsored by the Nebraska Hereford Association. Observers said prices received for the animals were below the average prices of other fall shows.

A total of 50 animals was sold. Walter Lewis of Larned, Kans., served as judge and Charles Cirkle of Norfolk as auctioneer.

Work To Open Soon On Air Base Bomb, Ammunition Store

Work is expected to get underway within three or four months on construction of ammunition and bomb storage facilities for the Strategic Air Command on a newly acquired tract of land west of the reactivated Lincoln Air Force Base.

Miles R. James, appraiser for the Missouri River Division Corps of Engineers, has been in Lincoln several days securing the government's option of the necessary land. Two quarter-sections of ground were bought from Prof. E. F. Schramm and one quarter-section belonging to the Tillman Flader family and William L. Tolstead.

The options were secured at a price of $150 an acre. A total of 640 acres were purchased.

Former Pen Inmate Is Ready To Begin Missionary Study

Joseph Sherman, 26, who decided while serving a Nebraska Penitentiary term that he wanted to be a missionary, is back in Lincoln ready to make the try to qualify, following the dropping of criminal charges against him at Lyons, Kan.

To get the charges at Lyons dropped, Sherman had to pay $140 court costs and $140 to make good the bad check he wrote.

A sister in Massachusetts helped him do that.

Back now in Lincoln, he expects to study under the Rev. Mr. Williams of Christ Temple in an effort to become a missionary. Sherman said that prison Sunday School Teachers Mrs. R. L. Jackson and Mrs. Pearl Harris, both of Lincoln, got him interested in church work.

Cases Rested in Suit Seeking Injunction On Sale of Watches

Attorneys for the Elgin National Watch Company and the Crescent Jewelers Company, 1332 O, rested cases late Friday after arguments on the issue of granting a temporary injunction will resume Saturday in District Court at 11 a.m.

The injunction order asked by Elgin will, if granted, prohibit Crescent from selling the company's watches at prices below those suggested by the Nebraska Fair Trade Act.

R. L. Vandervoort, Nebraska sales manager for the watch firm, testified that the effect of underselling on other retailers was difficult to estimate.

"Underselling is a disturbing element," he testified. "It shakes the public confidence in Elgin. We feel our price is fair. It gives the jeweler a profit and gives the consumer value for his dollar."

The sales manager said he was not aware that the Elgin company was offering other Lincoln manufacturing firms and insurance companies discounts on the watches—as charged by the Crescent attorney.

One Elgin witness testified that at request of the sales manager, he purchased a watch from the Crescent firm, at the time they advertised Elgin watches for sale below Fair Trade prices. The watch was used as evidence at the hearing.

According to Vandervoort, the watch was sold at wholesale prices at $26.15. The Fair Trade retail price is $37.50 and the Crescent Company sold the watch for $48.87, he added.

William B. Lowell of the Lowell Jewelers, 1341 O, said, "Elgin sets an example of cutting prices."

"Trading Stamps" He cited the practice of the Elgin Company selling to retailers which give trading stamps with purchases as an example of "effortless price maintaining attempt."

The Elgin practice of allowing their plant employees to purchase watches from retail jewelers at a 25 per cent discount was also criticized by Lowell. "The Elgin discount discourages trade and interferes with the sale of my own products," he said.

Elton Goldberg of the Crescent Jeweler firm testified that the Elgin stock of watches carried at the store was procured from other wholesale and retail jewelers—not from the Elgin Company direct.

"There are hundreds of catalogues and literally thousands of jewelry firms which offer Elgin watches at prices below the Fair Trade prices," Goldberg testified.

He stated that "every jeweler is in competition with those catalogues."

Take Business The catalogue take business which retail jewelers used to get, Goldberg said. "We used to get a lot of business from them at a considerable business because of the discount catalogues."

Goldberg said he had never signed the Fair Trade agreement and did not have a schedule of Fair Trade prices in his store. He testified that he has consistently sold Fair Trade items, at prices lower than Fair Trade prices.

"The competition can easily

The City Engineer's estimate of the cost of the work is $10,000. The City Engineer's estimate of the cost of the work is $10,000.

Sealed bids will be received at the office of the City Engineer, Lincoln, Nebraska, up to 10 o'clock a.m., Tuesday, December 23, 1952, for furnishing four 1952 model, four-door sedan type automobiles for the use of the Lincoln Department, in accordance with specifications for same on file in the office of the City Engineer.

The City's estimate of cost of these automobiles is $16,250.00 plus four automobiles now in use by the City. $4.7 Million General Fund Carryover Forecast

Gov. Val Peterson said Friday that State Tax Commissioner Philip K. Johnson had indicated the state's general fund will have a carryover of an estimated $4,735,652 when the present biennium ends next June 30.

Of this amount some $3,250,000 will be in the Assistance Department.

The governor pointed out that total askings of all state departments from the general fund for the 1953-55 biennium are $61,895,727.

Subtracting the estimated carryover of $4,735,652 this would leave $57,160,175 in "new money" to be raised if all departments got from Gov.-Elect Robert Crosby and the Legislature, which has the final say, all they asked.

The 1951 Legislature appropriated a total of $58,061,519 for the general fund.

$53 Million

Gov. Peterson pointed out that the estimated carryover of the $4,735,652, if achieved—and he said he hoped it might be more—would mean that actual expenditures for the current biennium would be $53,345,867.

In addition to the savings made by the Assistance Department through tighter administration of relatives' responsibility laws and more economical office operations, the governor said much of the estimated carryover will come as a result of his executive order of some months ago directing all code departments to save, if possible, five per cent of their allotted monies this year.

To Cut Levy

Gov.-elect Crosby has announced his fixed intention to cut the state property levy, source of much of the general fund money, from the 5.88 mills, of $5.88 per $1,000 valuation, to at least as low as $5.50 for next year.

Gov. Peterson said the estimated carryover would be a big help to Crosby in meeting this objective, and estimated that if cash receipts, such as cigarette and liquor taxes, etc., go up in the estimate for 1952 that would be a help in lowering the property tax.

The estimated cash receipts for 1952 were 10½ million dollars and Peterson said they might go as high as 13 million for 1953. One factor in that increase in estimate would be fees from drivers' licenses, which Peterson said

John Hanson Dies; Resident Of Davey Arguments Scheduled In Pay Increase Case

John S. Hanson, 92, Davey, former Lincoln resident from 1882 to 1902, who retired from farming 35 years ago, died in Lincoln Friday.

He was born Feb. 21, 1860, in Uggerslev Mark Fyn, Denmark, and came to Lincoln straight from Denmark in 1882.

On March 29, 1884, he was married to Maren Christina Jensen in Lincoln, and in 1902 bought a farm near Davey and moved there. His wife died May 16, 1915.

Mr. Hanson was a member of the Nazareth Lutheran Church of Davey.

Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. Erna Christensen of Davey; one son, Laurits J. P. L. Hanson of Lincoln; a foster son, Johannes of Ceresco; four grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday at Umbergers and 2:30 p.m. at the Nazareth Lutheran Church at Davey, Pastor K. Nygaard officiating.

Burial will be in the Danish Lutheran Cemetery at Davey.

Arguments Scheduled In Pay Increase Case

The State Supreme Court will hear oral argument Jan. 7 in the test suit brought against State Auditor Ray Johnson by Insurance Director Loren Laughlin to determine effective date of pay raises voted by the 1951 Legislature for various state officials.

Legionnaires Will Discuss Book At Panel

Lincoln American Legion members will appear in a panel discussion at Love Library Auditorium Thursday, Jan. 8 at 7:30 p.m., to discuss their objection to use of the book, "State of Asia," as a text at the University of Nebraska.

The Legionnaires, who have questioned the loyalty of the book's authors, will present their views at the YMCA sponsored meeting and answer audience questions.

Another public forum is being planned by the Legislative Committee of the Lincoln Teachers Association, reports John Killeen, co-chairman of the committee. Definite plans will be announced when teachers return from the holidays.

It is the hope of the committee, Killeen points out, to get the Legionnaires who made the charges and those investigating the charges to discuss their views and answer questions.

Petitions To Seek Students' Opinions On N.U. Book Store

Student opinion concerning sale of classroom supplies at the University of Nebraska-operated Regents Book Store will be sought Jan. 5 to 10 when the Student Council circulates petitions to students.

The Council action follows circulation of petitions to merchants in 34 Nebraska communities which were recently submitted to the Board of Regents requesting that sales be discontinued. The petitions also request a decision on the matter Jan. 10 when the Regents meet.

The Council petition is being prepared in an effort to secure signatures of a majority of students to indicate whether students wish continuation of the service, report Council members.
